Presents

Linux and Ubuntu for Librarians

a talk by Dr. Dave Shields

Friday, November 16, 2007
City College Cohen Library
Room 1/340 (Electronic Classroom)
10am-Noon

Dr. Dave Shields is Program Director for the Open Source Software Linux Technology Center, Systems and Technology Group. Dave will present a trip report on the K-12 Open Minds Conference, the first national conference to bring together educators and others interested in promoting the use of open-source in our nation's schools. The presentation will discuss some of the people met; the hardware demonstrated -- including the new One Laptop Per Child and the ASUS under $300 mini-laptop; presentations attended; and some of the opportunities and challenges that emerged from conference. He'll also discuss Ubuntu in educational settings and open document standard implications for libraries.
